

PROFESSIONALS
EUGENE WILLIAMS,
Attorney-at-Law.

WACO, TEXAS.
An independent attorney who will be promptly and faithfully attended to.
OFFICE—Up-stairs, corner of Austin street and the Square, over banking house of C. M. Scott & Son.

WALLER S. BAKER
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.

WACO, TEXAS.

J. H. DAVENPORT, Jr.
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.
WACO, TEXAS.
Office over Waco Drug Co.

C. JENKINS & W. J. JENKINS
JENKINS & JENKINS,
ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW.

WACO, TEXAS.
Will practice in all the courts of this and adjoining districts, and Appellate Courts at Austin, and Federal Court at Waco.

Joe S. Willis, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office removed to Reichen's drug store, Andrew street, between Plaza and Fourth street.
Telephone at 44-45.

J. H. Caldwell, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Offers his professional services to the citizens of Waco, Texas, and vicinity. Office at 102 W.
Hammond's drug store, 421 Austin street.

W. H. Wilkes, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office with Waco Drug Co.

Entered at the Postoffice at Waco, Tex., as second-class mail matter.

No communications written on both sides of the paper will receive attention at this office.

ROLES OF SUBSCRIPTION.
DAILY $10.00
FIFTH MONTH 3.00
THREE MONTHS 5.00
ONE YEAR 20.00
PER ANNUUM 25.00
AND SO ON FOUR MONTHS 10.00

Advertising rates furnished on application.

Eastern office, 42 Exchange building, New York,
W. C. BICKEL, Manager.

Important Notice.
The Examiner will not be held responsible for any bills contracted by employees of this office, except on a written endorsement by the business manager.

THE WACO EXAMINER

WACO, TEXAS, MARCH 12, 1885.

COME TO WACO to trade.

PAPER supply is running short.

THE strike is becoming devilish un-handy.

SUBSCRIBER FOR THE WEEKLY EX-AMINER.

THE Waco flower gardens are blooming.

APRIL will determine the wheat prospects.

REAL April weather. Tears and smiles, sunshine and storms.

WHY not have an anti-slavery candidate for mayor? Why not?

NOTE the advertising columns of this paper. They show an immensely large beer never fails, but new-papers do. Is there not a loud lesson here?

THE Waco city election grows more quiet as the eventful 7th of April arrives.

THE Austin Sun is still a bright little twinkler. It don't come often enough, however.

THE EXAMINER goes on a strike, and our friends are confined to excuse Christian patience.

THE Gazette has at last had mercy on the Herald, and things are serene in north Texas, and will remain so until the next provocation.

THE Gazette has labored assiduously and powerfully to revive the fire-grass issue, but hitherto the effort has proven only a dismal failure.

Now, that England and Russia are cutting throats, the game is likely to become far more interesting than when it was confined only to poor Gordon and El Mahdi.

A YOUNG legislator ought not to back too much because the collar doesn't fit nicely. It is astonishing, though, how promptly the American boy develops into a statesman under favorable circumstances.

THE strike continues much longer the supply of coal in all the region supplied by the Indian territory mines will be cut off entirely, and a coal tariffine result. In some quarters this would be a serious affair indeed.

WACO leads in all lines of commerce, anything you wish to buy can be bought in this city cheaper than anywhere else in the state. Waco isn't tinkering on railroad bills, or bothering her head about railroad combinations of any kind. The fact is the brave little central city has things very much her own way, these days.

THE KENTUCKY CASH STORE

On account of being overstocked in heavy goods, from and after Monday, December 15, I will sell

OVERCOATS, HEAVY SUITS, BLANKETS, STOGA BOOTS, AND LADIES' CLOAKS, AT ACTUAL COST. DON'T FAIL TO SEE MY STOCK BEFORE BUYING.

T R. JORDAN.

DECEMBER 11, 1884.

The Great Strike.

Still the strike continues, and notwithstanding the promising signs of early adjustment which existed at the commencement that desirable prospect seems as far off now as at any time since the inauguration of the difficulty. It seems a hard thing to do to determine which party, if either, is in the wrong. The road claims, and with justice too, that the amount and character of business done and with the general prospects ahead they cannot afford to pay more than 85 cents per day for their laborers. This needs no elaborate argument to show how widely apart this state of things stands the parties to the trouble. The men who will appoint are the men who will serve the government and not Grover Cleveland. They will be taken from the walks of life best calculated to fit them for the places they are called upon to fill. Long petitions and legislative endorsements will not be sufficient. There must be a general fitness, as well as a practical acquaintance with the affairs of the office. The general character and responsibility of the position will go toward fixing the executive choice. Let no man go before the president with a black spot on his escutcheon. Let there be no man of low birth or corruption, no man untrustworthy or a public trust, no peculation or greedily reaching out after undue gain. The government hereafter will be an indefinite period of time and to the manifest detriment of business interests of all kinds along its racing lines. Can the company afford to keep its tracks and trains idle? Can it pay interest on its paper, keep up repairs and meet other expenses if its main source of revenue is thus cut off? If its expenses are too heavy for its income are there not other leeks which may be stopped rather than to bring all of its vast freight business to a dead standstill? It is a grand work everybody should buy it.

Whether that beautiful young lady who was turned out of a Philadelphia ball room recently because of her ten-dollar dress was in the fashion or not, we are emphatically glad to hear that there were some people who had sense and nerve enough to protest vigorously against an unblushing indecency. Women who would give up一切 before going to see a doctor show a decided contempt for themselves almost to the point of abjection to the dictate of fashion, and make decent shows of themselves before the eyes of hundreds.

Some people can afford to be generalists; others would be practically bankrupt by a kindly emotion website.

WHAT is the devotee of fashion, after all but a multicolored moth, the slight deflection of whose orbit may bring it too near the bright, baleful candle? The Houston Journal pushes back its specks and talks like a Denton mule.

Whether that beautiful young lady who was turned out of a Philadelphia ball room recently because of her ten-dollar dress was in the fashion or not, we are emphatically glad to hear that the community that this discussor of vital questions would bring public condemnation? Men are not judged by what they say, but by what they do; therefore it is not only necessary that the good citizens should come together at once and make known their judgment, but also that one selected who failed to carry out their promises. Something must be done and that speedily, or a few very bad men in this city will drag us step by step until we are engulfed in a sea of wickedness beyond moral recovery.

Five outside the corporation, there is no mark as it is gravitating, the contrast between the treatment Gen. Grant is receiving at the hands of the southern press and the treatment of Northern papers at the mouth of a dozen different editors in the millions which Gen. Grant is making, has called forth the utmost sympathy and condoleance from the next papers of the south, and the expression of earnest wishes for his recovery have been numerous.

Some people can afford to be generalists; others would be practically bankrupt by a kindly emotion website.

At the heart of the editor of the Examiner has been made glad by the present of fourteen volumns of Bancroft's great historical work, and the promise that the remaining volumnes of the set of thirty-two will soon follow. It is a grand work.

We have consequently a right to ask if all reasonable and fair means have been exhausted ere this disaster was precipitated upon the country. If not, then it becomes the duty of the state to interfere. These roads, the beneficiaries of the commonwealth as they are, are not mere private corporations to be run and managed only as they see proper, or as their own selfish interests dictate. They must by the terms of the grants they have received pay due deference to the public weal. It is a great misfortune that this thing is precipitated just at this time, when a new administration has gone into power, and there is necessity for the fullest confidence in it. If the cut down is made in anticipation of a still further contraction in the volume of trade, it certainly is a precaution for which we can see no present pressing need, and it looks very essentially in all those prudent elements which command such enterprises to thoughtful and patriotic men.

Indications are already given that the hitherto peaceful and legal protests of the workmen against the cut are soon to be abandoned for other policies, which will surely lead them away from the public sympathy and divorce them from the protection of law. They have an unquestioned right to refuse to work for the wages offered, but they have no sort of right to prevent other men from doing so if they wish. At Sedalia they refuse to permit anybody to move the trains in any direction. This is wrong, and they will suffer for going to that end.

Now Gov. Marmaduke will have to fight a duel unless he can show that the gentlemen in St. Louis who are assaulting him are not gentlemen.

BRO. LELAND says he and Cleveland have been old bosom-sheas for many years. This is a pointer to the ambitious embroilie postmasters.

THE Island City furnishes a commendable example to the other busted banks.

Resumption is a good thing, and in this case it resumes.

THE Illinois legislature still hangs fire on the senatorial question. Why not elect Carter Harrison and be done with all the worry?

THE Western Union announces another dividend. Stock is that concern a good thing to have. It beats a Leadville carbonate mine all hollow.

Now Gov. Marmaduke will have to fight a duel unless he can show that the gentlemen in St. Louis who are assaulting him are not gentlemen.

Indications are already given that the hitherto peaceful and legal protests of the workmen against the cut are soon to be abandoned for other policies, which will surely lead them away from the public sympathy and divorce them from the protection of law. They have an unquestioned right to refuse to work for the wages offered, but they have no sort of right to prevent other men from doing so if they wish. At Sedalia they refuse to permit anybody to move the trains in any direction. This is wrong, and they will suffer for going to that end.

Now Gov. Marmaduke will have to fight a duel unless he can show that the gentlemen in St. Louis who are assaulting him are not gentlemen.

THE WEEKLY EXAMINER published today is a stunning paper. Substitute for a copy for friends in the old states. It will do good.

THE real fun will commence when John Bull and the Russian bear lock horns, so to speak.

All will rejoice to know that Senator Houston's bill is likely to be defeated.

THE new county government is meeting public expectation grandly.

THE beer men have dinked the freight blockade, to the detriment of the Philadelphia chess club to engage in a game by telegraph.

A good crop year will set all things even in this country.

THE Island news is plate matter. That is bad, ladies.

Advertisement in the WEEKLY EXAMINER.

Waco ladies are famous florists.

Waco leads all the trade points.

CLIPPING AND CUTTINGS.

The cabinet meeting on Tuesday was doubtless a very important one, and there are thousands of men in the United States who would give something very handsome to know just what was said and done. That meeting undoubtedly discussed the appointments to be made in the public service and mapped out a line of policy to obtain in the future with regard to the plan upon which the departmental service is to be performed. Let no oneholder or expectant derive himself for a moment. The president and his advisors are pure civil-service reformers, every one of them, and we should remember the fact that much of the public sensible in the service which has occurred since the war has been occasioned by the total disregard of the plainest indications of the service. Men have been appointed to high offices for political, or rather partisan effect, who were totally unfit for the places, to the detriment of the service and to the scandal of the government. Neither Mr. Hayes, nor his cabinet will do this. They will seek to appoint no man by reason of his effectiveness as a partisan, but solely by reason of his superior qualifications to administer the affairs of the office not only to buck too much because the collar doesn't fit nicely. It is astonishing, though, how promptly the American boy develops into a statesman under favorable circumstances.

THE strike continues much longer the supply of coal in all the region supplied by the Indian territory mines will be cut off entirely, and a coal tariffine result. In some quarters this would be a serious affair indeed.

WACO leads in all lines of commerce, anything you wish to buy can be bought in this city cheaper than anywhere else in the state. Waco isn't tinkering on railroad bills, or bothering her head about railroad combinations of any kind. The fact is the brave little central city has things very much her own way, these days.

so handicap the trail business as to when I need money most." The amount was forthcoming before the month ended.

Susan B. Anthony sent a bill to the legislature for a bill with an agency clause appointing a committee of experts from among our livestock men to investigate and report ones whether Kansas corn and wheat do not contain germs of disease dangerous to the public health.

Would Kansas acknowledge the corn?

No potatoes or apples in town, mourns the Gazette. Wait till the lager in the keg over there runs dry, and a wild west go up that will cause the cables of our suspension bridge to vibrate.

WHAT is the devotee of fashion, after all but a multicolored moth, the slight deflection of whose orbit may bring it too near the bright, baleful candle? The Houston Journal pushes back its specks and talks like a Denton mule.

Whether that beautiful young lady who was turned out of a Philadelphia ball room recently because of her ten-dollar dress was in the fashion or not, we are emphatically glad to hear that the community that this discussor of vital questions would bring public condemnation? Men are not judged by what they say, but by what they do; therefore it is not only necessary that the good citizens should come together at once and make known their judgment, but also that one selected who failed to carry out their promises. Something must be done and that speedily, or a few very bad men in this city will drag us step by step until we are engulfed in a sea of wickedness beyond moral recovery.

Five outside the corporation, there is no mark as it is gravitating, the contrast between the treatment Gen. Grant is receiving at the hands of the southern press and the treatment of Northern papers at the mouth of a dozen different editors in the millions which Gen. Grant is making, has called forth the utmost sympathy and condoleance from the next papers of the south, and the expression of earnest wishes for his recovery have been numerous.

Some people can afford to be generalists; others would be practically bankrupt by a kindly emotion website.

At the meeting of the capital board Col. Abner Taylor and Col. Babcock, contractors of the new state house, put in an appearance and stated that they could utilize the labor of local convicts in the event of a change in the proposed law granting a赦免. They agreed, however, that the compensation of these men would not equal the amount the syndicate would be entitled to under the change, and that the state would be expected to make good the difference in cash. If this determination on the part of the contractors is persisted in it is probable the substitution of granite for limestone will have to be made, as the stone will not be of the same quality as the granite.

We learn from parties living a few miles south of Moody that valuable horses and mules have died in that section recently from the effects of glanders.

Mr. Ben Teaf, living four miles south of Edna, had a mare stolen on the night of the 10th Inst.

Miss Little Culpepper, who has been visiting friends in Belton for the past few weeks, has returned home.

Mrs. Mampin, having been in Waco under treatment of Dr. Brown for some time, has been discharged, and her many friends congratulate her on her recovery.

Mr. Richardson, though not well, has greatly improved.

Miss Little Miles, of Marion, and Miss Little McConnell, of Wooden Wells, are visiting friends and relatives in our town.

TEXAS NEWS NOTES.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.

The sports were badly scuppered at the First Ward machine and boiler works Tuesday morning in which O. S. Denison was killed by the breaking of a revolving wheel. Denison was grinding a bracket, when the wheel broke, and he was struck in the abdomen with one of the pieces. He died at 1 o'clock that evening. He leaves a wife but no children.

A fatal accident occurred in the First Ward machine and boiler works Tuesday morning in which O. S. Denison was killed by the breaking of a revolving wheel. Denison was grinding a bracket, when the wheel broke, and he was struck in the abdomen with one of the pieces. He died at 1 o'clock that evening. He leaves a wife but no children.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.

Colonel John Henry Brown and other candidates for mayor of Dallas decided to withdraw from the race, or before the city Democratic convention, which assembled next Sunday.